ALLIES WARN U. S. NOT TO SHIP TO GERMANY

REPRISAL IS DECLARED ON KAISER

ambassadors of France and England Notify Secretary Bryan

BULLETIN

LONDON, March 1, 6:10 p. m.—Note of credit asked by government, the largest ever before the House of Commons, was adopted unanimously.

LONDON, March 1.—The establishment of a virtual blockade of hostile countries is Great Britain's reply to Germany's attacks on merchant shipping, announced officially today by Premier Asquith in a momentous speech in the House of Commons.

The plan of the allied governments for the prevention of shipping to and from ports of hostile nations contemplates the interception of commodities of every kind reaching or leaving these ports without, however, involving risks to neutral vessels or their crews.

The allies will hold themselves at liberty to capture any hostile countries or vessels which are presumed to have come from or to be destined for Germany. They have no intention of confiscating ships or cargoes which are detained, unless they are liable to confiscation or on normal conditions of war.

WAR CREDITS ASKED.

Asquith revealed these measures of reprisals to parliament and nation on introducing the third fourth vote for credit to meet expenses of the war. These are estimated at $1,350,000,000, to balance the cost of the current year, and $1,250,000,000, and another of $1,250,000,000 as the first installment for the year opening April 1.

Referring to the German naval operations against British shipping, Premier Asquith declared Germany had violated systematically all the conventions, taken further steps, the said, "by organizing an attack on the commerce of the world."

Germany, he declared, was not blockading and was not blockading English shipping.

What he termed "the German blockade" was, he said, "a blockade of the world."

Asquith said that the German blockade was "a blockade of the world."

WILSON DOUBTFUL IF HE WILL BE ABLE TO VISIT EXPOSITION

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Wilson told callers today the European situation was demanding so much of his attention that he was doubtful if he would be able to leave Washington this spring even, possibly, to make his proposed visit to the San Francisco Exposition.

"I am tied here by the legs," was the way his callers said the President expressed the situation.

LOWER RATES DEMANDED BY CITY

Decision that Oakland shall enter the arena to fight for a better freight rate to points within a radius of 200 miles at the hearing before the State Railroad Commission, was taken by the city council today after a session behind closed doors in the chambers of Mayor Frank K. Mott.

At the present time Oakland has the same class rates as San Francisco, and enjoys no advantage in rates proportionate to the advantage of geographical position. The fight will be made to obtain for shippers in this city a differential rate of a few cents on the hundred-weight, that will favor local merchants, wholesalers and jobbers in obtaining business in the interior of the state.

Victory in this fight would be of great value to Oakland business. It is obvious that the effort to gain this advantage will be strenuously fought.

The hearing has been set by the State Railroad Commission for March 22. The council today authorized City Attorney Charles A. Beardsley to appear before the railroad commission to present Oakland's case in the freight rate matter. The council also authorized the city attorney to obtain the services of a rate expert and traffic man to get up the statistics and the case for Oakland, as the fight must be made on a valid showing in facts and figures and precedents.

Alameda Co.'s Wheel Refuses to Revolve

Alameda county's wheel will not turn. Money may make the mare go, but it cannot make the wheel go, for there will be no money until it moves. This is the decision of the Board of Supervisors, Chairman Murphy this morning held on the elaborate centerpiece of the Alameda county exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, when it was found that the little train and other movable decorations on the great wheel, which represents the county's resources were not running as per specifications.

The wheel, recently installed, was made by several contractors. The center represents Oakland and the spokes represent the other cities of the county.

Petrograd Announces a Disaster to Von Hindenburg

Polish Invasion Is Completely Broken, Claim of Czar

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 1.—The federal grand jury, which has been investigating violations of the customs laws in connection with the furnishing of supplies to German cruisers in the Atlantic, today returned an indictment against the Hamburg-American line and five men alleged to have been connected with the shipment.

The indictment charges conspiracy to defraud the government through the filing at the customs house of false records, false clearances of vessels and false manifests of cargo.

The men named in the indictment are: Karl Bunn, director in charge of the New York office of the Hamburg-American line; J. Poppenshausen, who served as supercargo on the steamship Berwind; George Kotter, Felix Seifner and Adolph McMeister.

PETROGRAD, March 1, 12:15 p. m., via London, 2:01 p. m.—The highest importance is attached by the Russian military authorities to the German defeat at Przemska. It is asserted by Russian staff officers that their operations of the last fortnight along the northern front was based upon the confidence in breaking the Russian line at Przemska. This attempt by the Germans to strengthen the position of their left wing, which was an important part of their plan for a gigantic enveloping movement, extending from Augustowo to Eastern Galicia, is said today by the Russian leaders to have failed definitely.

The Russians assert that the retirement of the Germans in the north is more precipitate and disorderly than any previous retreat in this theater of war.

GERMAN SIEGE BLOCKED. They state that the Germans have abandoned large numbers of heavy and light guns and have even left behind slightly wounded soldiers in an effort to execute a hasty retreat. This condition of affairs, according to the Russian viewpoint, assumes added significance from the fact that the Germans are said to have employed some of their best troops in this fighting.

There are many indications that the Germans were entirely confident of success. The reported German plan for undertaking a siege of Grodno would appear to be a venture, with the Russians advancing along the left bank of the river Niemen toward East Prussia and engaging the position of the German left flank. The claim is made here that all the German troops which recently crossed the Niemen have again been forced back to the other bank.

Although reports from the operations in Galicia are incomplete, it would appear that the Austrians were making little headway in the attempt to force the Russians to retire from that province.

VILLAGES ARE BATTLEFIELDS

PETROGRAD, March 1.—Semi-official announcement is made in Petrograd as follows: "Russian troops should be credited with the initiative of the offensive movement north of Grodno."

"Grenadiers and artillery captured by the Russians north of Grodno are from the best corps of the German army now on the Eastern battlefield."

Russian progress in the region of Przemska has been notable. We have captured one village after another, taking several hundred prisoners in each place. In other sections the Germans are delivering counter attacks, bringing fresh troops into action, and

'DEAR MARIA' OPENS JAIL FOR SPOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Mrs. Sarina de Storey, Perolina of the "Dear Maria" letters and who achieved international fame in 1914 through the criticism of Colonel Roosevelt's Gulf Expedition, and whose husband, Frank R. de Storey, recently sued her for divorce, has come all the way from New York to fight him and this morning obtained a warrant for his arrest before Police Judge Oppenheimer.

Charges abandonment and neglect of wife, setting the date of her spouse's alleged desertion as August 4, 1912. Attorney Schuhl and Jones are representing Mrs. de Storey and accompanied her this morning to the Hall of Justice to procure her warrant.

The de Storeys were wedded in Egypt April 1, 1910, and it was the wife's desire for the return of the bride and the state of the mind of the husband, who could not overcome that caused the separation, according to her husband's charges.

In the divorce action de Storey declared that he had, at his wife's request, furnished her with letters to be used in an action for divorce, but when she did not bring suit he decided that he would file an action on his own account.

de Storey is an attorney at law, playwright and clubman, and has for some time made his residence in this city.

WOOLLEY DENIES STORY TOLD BY VOGEL SUSPECT

BULLETIN

That the Oakland police have arrested a suspect in the Vogel murder case this afternoon, and have discovered a blood-stained coat and a pair of shoes in his possession, is rumored at police headquarters. Chief of Police Petersen dismissed queries with a statement: "I don't want to discuss that."

"I do not doubt that my assassination in Oakland was thought of, but the gambling men of Oakland had too much sense to lay themselves open to perpetual blackmail by hired assassins."

This was the statement of Francis J. Heney in Los Angeles today when informed of the confession of Charles E. Sligh and Alfred Sells that they had been approached with an offer to kill Heney when he was in Oakland. Sells' confession, as reported by the Los Angeles police, is as follows:

"Sligh bought a half interest in the Little Balcony poker room above Woolley's saloon. Heney was trying to prosecute the gamblers and crooks. Heney was camping on Woolley's trail. This Sligh came to me and told me that he thought he could get $2000 off of Jack Woolley. If Woolley would put up the money, that he would kill Heney. I asked him in a few days if he had done anything about putting Heney away and he said no, but might later. If anyone there had put up the money, Heney would have never lived."

The charge that a plot was made to kill Heney came during the examination of Alfred Sells, one of the pair arrested on orders of the Los Angeles police and charged with the robbery of Fred Harlow, a cafe man of that city. Besides confessing to the knowledge of a plot to murder Heney, Sells declares that he knows of the mystery of the murder of Jacob Vogel, the Oakland banker and his wife, the holdup of the Southern Pacific train at Burbank, near Los Angeles, the robbery of a San Diego photographer and a score of other crimes.

Through the confession of Sells the Oakland police apprehended M. E. Cox, a trained nurse, declared to have given the two Los Angeles suspects information regarding hidden coin in the Vogel home in Fruitvale. The Los Angeles police engaged the prisoners in the south in a competition of confession, each man, hearing that he was accused by the other, giving evidence against his former partner. Up to a late hour today the duel of confession, charges and counter-charges continued.

In the meantime the Oakland police arrested a third suspect here, whom they later released. The name of this man the police will not make known. The charge that Sligh had discussed the assassination of Heney, setting his price at $2000, made by Sells, was at once transmitted to Heney, who is now in Los Angeles, that he may take precautions against any attempt by others of the alleged gang. Heney declares that he had no doubt that his assassination was discussed at the time he was in Oakland, and states that he is now ready to protect himself.

WOOLLEY MAKES DENIAL. Jack Woolley, the Oakland saloonman who, it is declared by Sells, Sligh had planned to approach, says that he does not know Sligh and that the latter never approached him.

"Sells, I understand, says that Sligh owned a poker room over my saloon," said Woolley. "This is a lie. There has never been a poker room over my place and there never will be. I will take anyone $500 who can prove that there was. I do not know this man Sligh. I never was approached by him on any matter. This stuff is ridiculous."

The unearthing of the evidence against Sligh and Sells in the south rudely interrupted a visit of Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen, who took charge of the Vogel investigation when private detectives embarked on the case, to the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Detectives were hurriedly sent to the Exposition grounds to find the chief, and he was hurried back to Oakland to take up the investigation. This morning he spent a busy hour covering up sources of information in the case and declaring that the Los Angeles police, in making public what they had discovered, had hampered his investigations.

POLICE FAIL TO ARREST SELLS. The Oakland police, it has developed, had Sells in the city prison February 17 and 18 while they were investigating the Vogel case, but had no suspicion that he might be connected with the Vogel murder mystery. Sells was arrested at Tenth and Broadway and held in Oakland until detectives arrived from Los Angeles to take him to that city.

Sells was lodging at an Oakland hotel when the morning papers contained a story to the effect that Sligh had been captured in Los Angeles, and had made confessions implicating Sells. No attempt was made to arrest Sells in Oakland until the next day, when Los Angeles police failed to make a formal request upon the Oakland police to arrest the suspect.

The hotel keeper, who counts in the papers, followed Sells around for a day. E. Corner and Fourteenth St. Oakland

STEGLER AND 'PALS' ARE INDICTED

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 1.—Mrs. Elsie P. Stegler, arrested today at the Greystone Hotel on a charge of felonious assault made by Arthur Matekiet, reporter for a German newspaper, was discharged later. She had been indicted with evidence being more definite, the magistrate said, he would have been inclined to send her to the workhouse.

Almost at the moment of Mrs. Stegler's discharge in the police court, the Federal grand jury returned an indictment charging her husband with conspiracy against the United States in obtaining an American passport falsely. Stegler is a German naval reservist. She was indicted with him, Richard Madden, in whose name the passport was issued, and Gustav Cook of Hoboken, who, it is charged, participated in obtaining the passport.

The three men were to be arraigned later in the afternoon.

NIGHT IN STATION.
Mrs. Stegler spent the night in a cell in a police station. Matekiet, who appeared against her, told the court that she had attacked him in a bedroom with a seltzer bottle and then had beaten him over the head with a case. He showed no marks of an encounter, however.

The testimony brought out the fact that Matekiet and another man had accompanied two women to the hotel, one of them being Mrs. Stegler. The party had obtained adjoining rooms, where they remained until 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Stegler testified that the party remained together during the entire night. She said that she and Matekiet had tried to disrobe her. At no time, she testified, were she and Matekiet alone. She characterized the charge against her as a "frame up."

In discharging the complaint against her, the magistrate said he would be inclined to send Matekiet and his male companion to the workhouse if the testimony concerning their alleged attempts to disrobe Mrs. Stegler were more definite.

EMBASSY IS HEARD.
By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The German embassy's communication to the state department on the Stegler passport case, which has involved the name of Captain Boyed, the naval attaché at the embassy, was received today and laid before Counselor Lansing at the department.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a statement given out at the embassy yesterday, characterized the communication as "one giving the main facts of the Stegler affair, so far as the naval attaché is concerned."

The embassy's communication, it was learned, was a copy of the statement Captain Boyed issued shortly after the charge was made by Stegler implicating the naval attaché in the passport case. Captain Boyed acknowledged he knew Stegler and that he tried to help him to get work, but denied emphatically any knowledge of fraud in securing the passport which Stegler possessed.

The state department acknowledged receipt of the embassy's communication.

Count von Bernstorff's statement follows:

BERNSTORFF'S DENIAL.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A statement issued yesterday by the German embassy, in the name of Count von Bernstorff, the ambassador, announced that the main facts in the Stegler passport case, with which the name of Captain Boyed, naval attaché of the embassy, has been connected, had been communicated to the state department. The statement follows:

"The main facts of the Stegler affair, so far as the naval attaché is concerned, have been communicated by me to the state department."

"I must refrain from dealing in any detail with the false statements and fantastic allegations of Stegler and his wife, which are multiplying from day to day and are of a pathological character."

"There may be other motives in question, but in any case the whole matter looks very much like an attempt of blackmail which failed."

"It is up to the judges and the public opinion to form their judgment of the reliability of Stegler."

ALTAMONT PASS ROAD

quest came, and Inspectors Wood, Green and Gallagher arrested Sells and placed him in the city prison.

Sells remained in the city jail until the following day, when he was delivered to the custody of officers from Los Angeles.

The Vogel murder had been committed the night of Thursday, February 11. Sells was arrested on February 17 and delivered to the Los Angeles detectives the next day.

PETERSEN REMAINS CENSOR.

"There is nothing we can say about this case at the present moment," declared Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen today. "We have been engaged all night in covering up what was spilled over in Los Angeles. Our work has been hampered by this and we intend to keep these things under cover until we can say something definite. It may be today and it may be that the whole matter will blow up."

It is easy enough to put a man in jail, but where the whole thing is circumstantial it is not so easy to convict him. If we had not succeeded in covering up on the information that was made public today in the morning newspapers we would not have had even a chance of getting confessions from them."

SELLS MAKES STATEMENT.

Sells, in Los Angeles, gave the police a detailed statement regarding several robberies they planned and others in which they were involved. Throughout the confession Petersen, the detective who acted as chief interrogator, he declared that they looked over a house at 25 Mesa street, Oakland, but were afraid to rob it, and also had planned the robbery of a Mrs. Yale, who owned many diamonds, but also were afraid to attempt this one. He declared that Sigh suggested both plans. He implicated Mayfield in the Standard Oil Company case and also declared that they robbed a physician in San Francisco.

"We got three or four phony diamonds and sold them for $110," he declared. Sigh, he declares, disposed of the stolen goods.

POLICE SEEK GIRL.

During the confession reference was made to a girl with whom Sells was intimate in Oakland, but whom he refused to name. The police declare that they used a woman as a "diamond spotter" during their Oakland activities. Sells also declares that they planned burglaries in San Jose and Sacramento and that they robbed a house, the address of which he does not remember, on Woolsey street, in Oakland.

"Sigh has gotten me into trouble. I would never have peached on him," declared Sells, when questioned regarding the Vogel case. I will not talk about the Vogel case. I was in talk of robberies. What is the use of talking about the Vogel case? "I had nothing to do with the Vogel job."

He declares that the first he heard of this case was when he heard that the state department was in communication with Cox on the matter. "A girl was there part of the time," he declared. The nurse knew the lay of the land, because he had worked there. I don't know that the name Vogel was mentioned, but it was in the conversation. The nurse told of a doctor on Telegraph avenue who was supposed to have a lot of jewelry."

Chief Petersen admitted today that several other arrests may be made in the case, but refused to state the names of the persons.

Mayfield, declaring that he is the victim of a plot by which the bandits have planned a "frame up" on him and seek to have him convicted of crimes he has not committed, declares that he has no different robberies have been perpetrated in a systematic manner and has promised to make a complete statement of the matter to Chief Petersen, who is directing the Vogel investigations.

He can prove alibis to clear himself, he declared. I know Sells, but I did not know anybody else," he declared, when arrested in San Francisco last night, "and that I was not mixed up with him, either in any opium smuggling plans or anything else."

Sells threatened me with or who he said he would frame me, but I will tell it all to Chief Petersen."

Sells, according to the police, is the man to whom Cox, the nurse formerly employed at the Vogel home, spoke of the hidden gold in the aged banker's home and also told of the details of the house. He was arrested in Los Angeles with Sigh, a former Oakland man, on a charge of burglary in the south which he admits. The speed with which he admitted the Los Angeles charge, according to the police, may be an indication that he does not desire to be brought to Oakland for investigation.

The two men are declared to have been implicated in a long list of robberies and Mayfield, who knew the men in the south, declares that Sells, to whom it is declared Cox gave the Vogel information, swore to "frame" evidence against the waiter.

PLAN TO GET EVEN.

"It is all a plot," he declared. "He promised to get even, this fellow Sells, and he said he would frame me."

"I do not have any fear of the result. I can prove an alibi. I have been right here in San Francisco since last August. I could not have participated in the Standard Oil crime, and it is absurd for any one to say that I had anything to do with the Vogel murder. I will make a complete statement to Chief of Police Petersen."

Sells consented to talk, however, when asked about the plan to assassinate Francis J. Heney, and said such a plan was on foot. He was presently advocating an investigation into municipal affairs in Alameda county early this year. Sigh, according to Sells, had a half interest in the poker parlor over Jack Woolley's saloon in Oakland.

WALTER PETERSEN WHEN I AM TAKEN TO OAKLAND. I don't like to say anything more now. Up to the latter part of last September I was in the restaurant business on Filmore street with Gus Miller."

PITTED AGAINST EACH OTHER.

Confessions of Sigh and Sells, arrested in the south on the charge of robbing the home of Fred Harlow, the police declare, will possibly cast light on the mystery of the murders of Vogel and his wife. Sigh, who was in the south on short time ago, declares that the nurse Cox, who was once employed at the Vogel home, gave information of the hidden money in the house to Sells. Sells declares that he was not connected with the crime.

Cox, who is a graduate of the Oakland Central Hospital, and has served in a number of institutions, was graduated from the school while on parole from the county jail following a saloon brawl. He was released from prison at O. D. Hamilton and W. H. Irwin, who had befriended him.

According to the information made by Sigh in Los Angeles, Cox was formerly employed as a nurse by the Vogels and conveyed to the bandit Sells intimate details about the home life of the banker and his wife and of the secret hoards of money at their home, 3188 Galindo avenue, Oakland.

The description of a room where Mrs. Vogel kept $4000 secreted, and which she often visited during the night to see that the money was safe, was among the information that Sigh says was furnished to Sells by Cox.

For the past six months Cox has been lodging at the home of Mrs. P. J. Gill, 1538 Franklin street, Oakland, a professional nurse, who took on a job as a nurse at the hospital.

The Los Angeles police got in communication with Chief Walter Petersen of Oakland yesterday after the name of Cox had been mentioned in connection with the Vogel robbery and murder. Petersen said that there was nothing to connect Cox with the crime, but that the nurse may have conveyed the same information he gave to Sells about the Vogel home to other criminals.

RAJCO HOLDING COX.

"No charge," he preferred against Cox, said Chief Petersen last night, "and we are simply holding him in detinue until we can investigate in detail the alleged disclosures made by these men under arrest in Los Angeles."

The hold-up of the Southern Pacific Lark train at Burbank last fall, when nearly 40 passengers were relieved of their money and jewelry, is among the crimes brought home to the two by their own confessions. How they were concerned in a plot to assassinate Francis J. Heney when he was active in urging an investigation of the municipal affairs of Alameda county early this year is also told about in the confession.

Sells admitted during his grilling by the detectives that himself and Sigh bound and gagged the watchman at the office of the Standard Oil Company in Oakland on September 1 last and the Harlow case, making $5000. He also admits having held up and robbed a San Francisco doctor at 830 Market street and of planning other robberies in this city with Sigh.

Sells admitted his readiness to confess to his part in the Heney case, but he persistently refused to admit that he knew anything about the Vogel murder.

PROCLAIMS INNOCENCE.
"I would rather be tried for the Vogel job than for Harlow's," said Sells in the course of his examination. "I am innocent of the murder, but I am innocent of the murder because I believe my partner in crime is willing to do anything in the world to get himself out."

Sells refused to make any further statement, and the Los Angeles detectives then asked Sigh to make a statement about the Vogel murder.

"I left Oakland on January 1," replied Sigh. "Sells called me up some time during the week, just before I left Oakland. He said he was in a nursing home who had just left the Bronx lodging-house. He said that once he had worked for a German family out in Fruitvale, and that the woman had $4000. He said he was making a deal up most of the night to which it was a girl was there part of the time."

"This nurse knew the lay of the land because he had worked there. I don't know that the name Vogel was mentioned, but I am innocent of the murder because I believe my partner in crime is willing to do anything in the world to get himself out."

"As I understood it at the time, the woman whose name was Cox, was not at the Bronx lodging-house at the time, which was in the middle of the afternoon. When Sells left me he went east from Broadway at the post office. I supposed he was going to see his trained nurse. This nurse had also told me of a girl who had worked for a doctor on Telegraph avenue who was supposed to have a lot of jewelry. I don't remember the address of the doctor or his name."

Sells, who heard Sigh make this statement, made continual interruptions, but refused to talk when the detectives began to interrogate him again about his knowledge of the Vogel murder.

Sells consented to talk, however, when asked about the plan to assassinate Francis J. Heney, and said such a plan was on foot. He was presently advocating an investigation into municipal affairs in Alameda county early this year. Sigh, according to Sells, had a half interest in the poker parlor over Jack Woolley's saloon in Oakland.

ADVOCATES OF BOND ISSUE TO MEET

Over 2000 business men of the east bay cities, representing all walks of life, will attend a luncheon in the Hotel Oakland tomorrow afternoon to further the cause of the Alameda County Million-Dollar Exposition bond issue. The luncheon will start at 12:30. Among the speakers will be H. A. Johnson, former president of the Santa Fe Improvement Club, one of the largest and most representative organizations in the county, and A. S. Lavenson, chairman of the Business Men's Exposition Bonds Campaign Committee.

The gathering is to be an important factor in rousing public enthusiasm throughout the county in favor of the bonds. An announcement of interest regarding the election will probably be made at the luncheon.

Expressions of regret at inability to attend tomorrow's gathering from a few prominent business men are coupled with hearty wishes for the success of the campaign and hopes that the bonds will carry by a big majority.

The Women's Executive Committee of the Exposition Bonds Campaign held a meeting at the campaign headquarters, 1227 Broadway, this afternoon when the different phases of the situation were discussed. A campaign intended to reach every woman in the county was inaugurated at today's meeting. Among the leaders in the Women's Executive Committee are Mrs. W. S. Peters, San Leandro; Mrs. William E. Colby, of Berkeley; Mrs. John S. Emery, Mrs. J. N. Chapman, Alameda; Mrs. George Beck, Livermore; Mrs. May Locke, Mrs. J. E. Thane, Mrs. Rae E. Gilson, Mrs. John A. Park, Hayward; Mrs. Core E. Jones, Mrs. S. C. Egan, Mrs. L. C. Grasser and Mrs. A. C. Christensen.

It was emphasized that the $1,000,000 in bonds would be used to purchase capital stock in the Exposition. This stock is non-assessable and will pay dividends. Statistics were submitted by the women showing how the Exposition will benefit Alameda county. It was pointed out that over 100,000 visitors would come to the east bay cities to attend conventions alone. The expenditure of these visitors during their stay will be approximately $4,000,000. Exposition expenditure for the county is estimated at $250,000 of the tax and a half million visitors who will make their home in Alameda county during their stay at an average of fourteen days will spend at the rate of $5 a day, which will leave $1,000,000 in the county.

The cost to the property owner who pays the bond taxes on property assessed at $1000 will be less than one mill a day, and will reach only $7.20 in the forty years that is the life of the bond.

Fuel Co. Civil Trial Fixed for May 12

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Federal Judge Van Fleet this morning fixed May 12 as the date for the trial of the civil action brought by the government against the officials of the Western Fuel Company of California. The suit is to recover $50,000 customs duties alleged to have been withheld by the Western Fuel Company, three of the officers of which are under sentence for a conspiracy to defraud the United States government on coal weights.

A legal battle is expected and a large corps of attorneys has been retained by the corporation to fight the action.

PIONEER OF OREGON TRAIL TO SOAR WASHINGTON WILL DEDICATE SALMON AND APPLES ARE EXHIBIT

EZRA MEEKER, WHO WILL FLY WITH FOWLER ON WASHINGTON DEDICATION DAY, THURSDAY.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Ezra Meeker, salmon and apples are the three chief attractions to be exploited at the dedication of the Washington State Building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on Thursday, March 4, at 3 o'clock p. m.

Ezra Meeker made the first trip over the Oregon trail to New York city with an ox team ten years ago. On Washington dedication day the same Ezra Meeker, eighty-five years old, will soar over the Exposition grounds in an airplane with Robert C. Fowler and while Lincoln Beachy on opening day released a number of snow-white doves. Meeker will release a gigantic flock of Washington literature, to the dedication of visitors and the despair of the white winged brigade.

The venerable aviator, who, in spite of his flowing white hair and beard, is as spry as a college athlete, was interviewed yesterday.

"It is only a short step from the ox team to the aeroplane," he said, "and in a few years, undoubtedly, there will be a regular airship service from the west to the east and automobile trips between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts will be something ordinary."

SANTA CLARA DAY TO BE BIG FETE

Immense Army to Storm Exposition on March 5 With Carloads of Blossoms.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Moving on San Francisco like an immense army, Santa Clara county folk will storm the Panama-Pacific International Exposition on the occasion of their dedication day, Friday, March 5. Not fewer than 15,000 Santa Clara residents will be present, armed with blossoms.

Twenty special trains and 1000 automobiles will be required to bring this great number. Like the transport of a fighting force there will be with these automobiles truck loads of floral ammunition. Blossoms will also be carried in the baggage cars of the special trains. Rooters from Stanford University and fair co-eds, 1500 strong, will be a part of this great delegation.

A "blossom fete" is the name the Santa Clara county enthusiasts have given to their celebration. "Blossom Day" is the title which this day is sure to carry in the history of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Blossoms are near the perfect state in Santa Clara county just now. The roads of the county are lined for miles with pink and white of the budding fruit trees. The gathering of the county is necessary to supply their force of excursionists, 15,000 school children have been pressed into service as blossom gatherers.

Those who travel to this city in automobiles will come in cars which have been transformed into floats. Blossoms will be the decoration of this use. The county's prettiest young women are to have places in these cars. Gathering at Twenty-fifth and Valencia streets at 9 a. m. the 1000 automobiles will parade both up and down Market street and finally to the exposition grounds by way of Van Ness avenue.

Arriving at the exposition grounds these automobiles will be admitted through the Scott street gate and will give exposition guests their first automobile parade.

Joining the automobiles at this point will be 15,000 pedestrians. The great regiment of people will be headed by school children's band of more than fifty pieces. This band is a uniformed body and has much ability for a junior organization. The monster demonstration is arranged to take place before the Tower of Jewels. Details of this are being held secret.

Among the societies which will be largely represented at the exposition is the Order of the Eastern Star and the Society of Santa Clara Pioneers. Each of these will have its own special train.

ALL SHOPS CLOSED.

Illustrating the enthusiasm with which this big event is being pushed, Santa Clara county's announcement that even the cigar stores will be closed. Stores which have never before locked their doors for a holiday will present closed fronts on March 5. All educational institutions in the county will close and big delegations of students in this list of schools are Stanford University, Santa Clara University, College of the Pacific, the State Normal School, the high schools and district schools.

The foremost men and women of the county are taking a part in the arrangements. The committees include the following:

ATTENDANCE AT EXPOSITION ON SUNDAY, 84,200

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Saturday's total of Exposition visitors, despite the fact that many extra ones attended for the Grand Prix races, was broken by the attendance of the "off day" yesterday, when, despite the fact that little but band concerts were announced as items of interest, a total of 84,200 people visited the fair. Saturday's attendance was 81,338.

The attendance up to 6 o'clock yesterday climbed to 71,603. Officials reported that 12,587 more people came to the Exposition grounds at night to watch the illumination, making a total of 84,200 while the total of Sunday, February 21, was 75,501.

The rush in attendance yesterday came around at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. From that time until 3:30 the machines at the entrances clicked with regularity, admitting thousands.

Every bench on the grounds was taken up during the afternoon. At times men and women were huddled in an hour or more for some place to sit down. Bales of hay scattered along certain parts of the Exposition were eagerly sought by tired pleasure seekers. The grandstands in many parts of the grounds were filled to the brim.

WANT SCHOOLS USED AS CENTERS

Hayward Club Starts Move- ment to Utilize Buildings for Community Purposes.

HAZARD, March 1. — A movement has been started here to have the schools used for community purposes and to use them as an influence in the city's political, social, educational and industrial welfare. Through the efforts of Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg and the board of grammar school trustees, Wallace Hatch, one of the university extension department lecturers has been engaged to further this campaign in Hazard and to give talks on the subject.

The afternoon session addressed the members of the High school and "The School and the Political Problems of the Community," in which he emphasized that their solution lay largely in using the schools as centers for organizing welfare work.

"We give several outlines of the proposed wider use of the school plant Hatch said:

"The service and influence of the school should begin at birth and continue until death. Schools should protect the child from the physical and moral dangers against the devil which may result from the ignorance of parents. The school should protect society against the burden of industrial inefficiency, exploitation, selfish political maneuvering and the waste of human energy as well as from expensive institutionalism.

"The schools should aid the community in every possible manner in developing its natural and personal resources. By the use of the schools as a sort of civic center, the people will be enabled to take a community self-taking, in which they can investigate the true conditions the existing in its social, political and industrial life."

- This evening Hatch will lecture on "The School and the Social Problems of the Community" after a meeting of the Hayward lodge of Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs in the Odd Fellows hall.

He will tell how the wider use of the school plant often calls forth the criticism that the school is attempting to compete with or supplant the home, church and other fundamental institutions. By emphasizing the fact that the school is the social clearing house wisely to distribute responsibilities to every social agency which can properly assume them, this criticism is instantly removed and the agencies render the public attention and support and do the full work for which they were created.

Wilson's Friend on Belgium Relief

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 1. — Col. E. M.

house, of New York, a warm personal friend of President Wilson, who is in London on his way to the continent, has expressed a deep interest in the work of the American commission for the relief he has met Chairman Herbert C. Hoover of California and other prominent American business men residing in this city, who are assisting in directing the stupendous task of feeding Belgium.

"From the descriptions given, of the conditions in Belgium, it is obvious that they could not be improved upon," said Colonel House. "The commission handles no money. This is all handled through firms of accountants. The buying of supplies is done by firms which do nothing else. The shipping problems are in the hands of the shipping companies. No charity has more efficiently administered."

"The most remarkable feature of the commission's history is that it rose immediately to the emergency when Belgium was threatened with starvation and created an effective machinery for handling foodstuffs, removed international barriers and began to deliver food without the delay which often characterizes similar movements. Naturally, there can be only one agency handling the food situation in Belgium. Efforts must be centralized as under the conditions existing there it is impossible for representatives of various organizations to move about.

"The American commission has displayed rare tact and executive ability in handling such a delicate situation. It has won the confidence of the countries affected by its efforts and maintained an avenue for relief under very trying circumstances. It is gratifying to hear of the magnificent manner in which Americans arose to the occasion when war broke out. Chairman Hoover has made an international reputation and merits it. I hear nothing but favorable reports about the work he and his associates have done in behalf of Belgium."

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE—Rev. Frank L. Smith, the First Methodist Church pastor, is the author of this series of sermons. "I have been in the Empty Church—Empty of those who belong to it," he said in part:

"I have been in the empty church and realize that I have received in the preparation of this series of sermons have been from individual citizens who have said to me, 'You are the pastor of this church and you have much responsibility for the empty church—why do they say to the preachers to blame the church for the empty church?' I have said to them, 'I am a teacher, I am a preacher, and I am a citizen.' He continues: 'Don't say the fact, secure the past.' Don't say the fact with men, violence has been done. He says, 'The church is a real condition of the average American city and then asks, 'In all this, where is the responsibility?' I have said to him, 'Every man is responsible, and in the while we are weak proof from the pulpit, but when you look from it, it's come I should say that the spirit of the people, this championship of the law, the spirit of the citizen. He thinks if the clergy will show the people that they are not mere preachers; if they will assert their rights as servants of God and perform the duties of their office as preachers, the churches will be filled."

"TOO MUCH POLITICS."

"But others say that they cannot stand so much of this kind of pulpit and think the preachers should cut out politics and other political issues and stick to the Bible sermons. As preachers are not politicians, I am sure I am not pushed by them can succeed." There is a part of the angry aggressiveness of the word of the clergy who should do their work as citizens.

"As to the moral tone of the city being chargeable for many empty churches, that needs no argument. The chief reason for the empty churches is the life, property and honor; to be a terror to evil-doers and a praise to them that do well. But what do we often find? A city where the moral tone is so low that men could not be found in it. Pittsburgh are told found twenty-eight and were proud to have beaten Sodom. Of course the moral tone is so low that the city is a pagan. It's awful to think that the home and the church are united in herculean efforts to counteract the demoralizing influence of the city. The city is a pagan and the church is a pagan. More people would be church-goers, less men would be in prison and less boys and girls in reform schools if the city were a better place. The city deliberately counteract the work of good homes and churches by tempting the people through legally protected vice, through immoral amusements, through the employment of police officers with law-breakers."

CITY POWER BLAMED.

"Every city has just the number of criminals that it has and the number of criminals that it has. The municipal power is often more to blame than the church in that it takes more money of dollars than of sons and daughters."

"The liquor power, which adds to every trouble, undermines every effort after good, has ruined our fair cities. The city has the power to have been

men and the public health and morals. Young men go wrong because it is easy to do so; they are tempted by the temptations which surround them—by the faces in violation of law; gambling is carried on in many hotels and other places accessible to young men; liquor is sold to minors; and the police are too often bribed to make no account of what should be made to them. It must be made to feel its responsibility for the vicious environment it provides for its youth. Yes, the moral tone of the city is low, and the people are too often careless and pleasure-loving. A more vigorous kick at the church is aware of.

WHAT SHOULD PASTOR CO?

"With attitude shall the preacher assume toward politics? What should the city mean to him and what should he mean to the city? "Stick to the pulpit, preach the gospel and let politics alone," says some. Often the pew is moribund sensitive on the question; it may be it has shared in the stolen bacon. But can the pastor preach to the people who have been the nettle under the knife of the times, if earth, it must come here and now, in the home, counting-room, amusement-parade, and the street. It is the will of God, in the President and in Governors, in mayors of our cities, chief of police, in sheriffs and deputies, in judges and juries, that we should be a people who have heaven as fitness to live in Aiamada, Oakland, or wherever our lot may be cast, living with men and being interested in the welfare of all men, and not in our city and concern our humanity."

"The self-seeking and evil-minded care not for our prayers and singing, or our words of praise, but they will be in our armies, and into the actual conflict to battle for righteous and just conditions, they cry 'intrusion.' Stick to your business of saving souls! Men control the destinies of politics, and not we, because good men permit them to do so. God's only politics are cleanliness and honesty, sobriety and justice. Give us an example of these things. Give us an example of the Christian religion."

POLITICS RESPONSIBLE.

"Tear me, no province of human affairs is outside the concern of Jesus Christ and Christianity. Bad politics is responsible for the suffering of millions. The slaveholder held entrenched the slavery evil until the pupils hurled their thunderbolts at it. Never were terrific blows against organized wickedness so effective as those of the political machine against social and industrial injustice more needed than just now."

"If the preacher is not to lead, then we will!" The pupils for the most part have, like the prophets of old, spoken out bravely and frankly. I believe, however, if they would tell the whole truth, they would tell the whole truth. The shocks in the pew and martyrs in the pulpit. Officers of the law are our servants.

if unfaithful, than our woe. We have enough good laws now to redeem California, but we need better men to enforce them. A good law derives its value from the officers who execute it. God give us good men! The church must furnish them."

BURGLARS IN ALAMEDA

Six Crimes Twenty-four Hours Cause Extra Police Precautions.

ALAMEDA, March 1.—The ransacking and burning of a residence at 1417 Court street last night was the sixth burglary in Alameda within twenty-four hours, and as a result the police are doubting their efforts to capture the thief or thieves that are infesting Alameda. The marauder who entered the home last evening climbed to the second story with the aid of a ladder he found on a new building nearby.

The burglar systematically ransacked the house, but according to the report received by the police stole only a revolver and an oak cigar case. Upon leaving the house the burglar walked across the street and after examining the case dropped it on a lawn. It was found there this morning and contained a vanity box and silver purse.

Last Saturday night and yesterday the police received reports of burglaries in the following homes:

B. Westerman, 1318 Caroline street, nothing stolen. A burglar alarm was started when a rear window was forced with a spade and the marauder was frightened away.

R. E. Fisher, 1311 St. Charles street. The burglar climbed through an open window, ransacked the house, but nothing was taken.

Mrs. Wood, 1169 Park avenue. Jimmy used to force rear window. A purse containing fifty one-cent pieces was stolen.

R. S. Freeman, 1049 San Antonio avenue. A rear window was forced and after ransacking the house the burglar obtained a small bank, which contained $100, the amount of which is not known.

Chief Ness then reported that the home of his late grandmother, on Sherman street, near Grand avenue, was entered, but that no window in the basement was forced.

Chief of Police John Conrad issued a warning to residents this morning, urging them to be on guard and to take steps to securely lock all doors and windows and to place all valuables in a safe place.

Chief Conrad also asks that residents not leave their homes at night, but to leave home, so that a warning can be given the police if strangers prowling about the premises.

Persons looking like characters are seen about the city, either day or night, Chief Conrad requests residents to immediately notify the police.

Persons who may or may not be employed by the burglars in Alameda. In the guise of census men or inspectors for asks that if such men appear at the homes, or if peddlars call who are suspicious, that the police be notified in a hurry.

Another "stunt" that is being worked out by burglars is to telephone to homes to ascertain if the occupants are at home. If no one answers the phone calls the places are spotted and burglaries are planned off. The police ask that if residents obtain such calls to notify them immediately so that the source of the call can be traced.

The city is to be thoroughly patrolled, several extra watchmen being placed on duty to look for the burglar. It is thus far have been in homes where the occupants are away.

"Grievous Problem" Topic of Oakland Officer

Oakland's solution of the "Gri Problem," a detention home for women, was the topic discussed at the meeting today when at the Seventh California conference of Charities and Corrections, Miss Beatrice McCall of the Women's Protective League, presented a paper on "The Gri Problem," women's cases in this city. Miss McCall outlined the work of her office from the time it was formed, dealing with office living plans for smaller offices in other cities.

Unemployment, the "Gri Problem," and detention home work were the topics discussed at the meeting today. George Bell of San Francisco, secretary of the immigration and housing committee, led the discussion on the "Gri Problem." Fred C. Mills of Kansas City was the principal speaker at today's session.

Mrs. E. L. Baldwin, chairman of the San Francisco chapter of the Protective League, opened the discussion of detention homes, and probation officers and juvenile court

RAYMOND, March 1. — A movement has been started here to have the schools used for community purposes and to use them as an influence in the city's political, social, educational and industrial welfare. Through the efforts of Mrs. L. L. Schwartzberg and the board of grammar school trustees, the Odd Fellows hall, one of the community extension department lectures has been engaged to further this campaign in Raymond and to give talks on the subject.

This afternoon Hatch addressed the members of the Hill and Valley club on the "School and the Social Problems of the Community," in which he emphasized that their solution lay largely in using the schools as centers for organizing welfare work.

In giving a general outline of the proposed wider use of the school plant Hatch said:

"The service and influence of the school should begin at birth and continue until death. Schools should protect infants against physical and mental ills and against the evil which may result from the ignorance of parents. The school could protect society against the burden of industrial inefficiency, exploitation, selfish political maneuvering and from preventable disease as well as from expensive institutionalism.

"The schools should aid the community in every possible manner in developing its natural and personal resources. By the use of the school as a sort of civics center the residents will be enabled to take a community stock taking in which they can investigate the true conditions existing in its social, political and industrial life.

"The Evening Hatch will lecture on "The School and the Social Problems of the Community" before a meeting of the Raymond lodge of Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs in the Odd Fellows hall.

He will tell how the wider use of the school plant often calls forth the criticism that the school is attempting to compete with or supplant the church and other fundamental institutions. By emphasizing the fact that the school is the social clearing house wisely to distribute responsibilities to every social agency which can properly assume them, this criticism can instantly be removed and the schools receive the public attention and support and do the full work for which they were created.

Wilson's Friend on Belgium Relief

By LONDON, March 1. — Col. E. M. Wilson, friend of Belgium, has been

London on his way to the continent, has expressed a deep interest in the work of the American commission for the relief of Belgium. Through Ambassador Fage, he has met Chairman Herbert C. Hoover of California and other prominent Americans. He has also met the various city, who are assisting in directing the stupendous task of feeding Belgium.

"From the descriptions I given of the commission's methods, I should say they could not be improved upon," said Colonel House. "The commission handles no money. The food is handled through firms of accountants. The feeding of the firms is done by firms which do nothing else. The shipping problems are in the hands of specialists. I know of no charity more efficiently administered."

"The most remarkable feature of the glum and threatened with starvation and created an effective machinery for handling foodstuffs, removed international barriers and began to deliver food without the delay which often characterizes similar movements. Naturally, there can be only one agency handling the food situation in the Belgian Congo. Effort must be realized as under the conditions existing there it is impossible for representatives of various organizations to move about.

"The American commission has displayed rare tact and executive ability in handling such a delicate situation. It has been able to coordinate the activities of the various relief organizations, to be affected by its efforts and maintained an avenue for relief under very trying circumstances. It is gratifying to hear of the magnificent manner in which American broke out. Chairman Hoover has made an international reputation and merits it. I hear nothing but favorable reports about the work he and his associates have done in behalf of Belgium."

DRUGS IMMEDIATELY CUTS

Cool, arrested for driving away an automobile without the owner's consent, was first received with blood in a cell at the Jefferson station this morning and hurried to the Park hospital. He denied knowledge of the shooting, declaring that he had been out when the windfall of $10,000 was smashed, and that the officers had not noticed his wound in arresting him. Patrolman Wilson found Cool in the cell and is of the opinion that he must have had a quarrel of some kind with his person. He denies, however, that he was involved in the shooting. He has a bad ankle, both of which were badly cut.

The man here was taken at 2 a. m. from the Fifth street garage and Cool was arrested by Patrolman Fredericks eight days ago.

The Revival of Sport in Many States Gives Breeding New Impetus.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 1.—Prospects of a general revival of racing in America have caused more activity in Kentucky than in any other state. Much new blood is being injected into well-known strains which have been dormant for years. The European war has made it possible for American breeders to obtain the best of the best from the best of the best. The revival of racing in so many states during the past year or two has brought about new conditions in Kentucky. JOHN BLACK, GOLF PROFESSIONAL AT CLAREMONT AND ONE OF THE BEST PLAYERS IN THE COUNTRY.

The main reason why John Black took to golf is that he was born in the middle of a golf links and had to dodge the little pellets on his way to and from the clubhouse. He has been in America now for nine years, two years and a half of that time being spent at the Claremont Country Club. He is known as one of the best playing professionals in the country, and holds the remarkable record of 61 for the Claremont course. He is a natural teacher. Knowing a thing, and being able to impart your knowledge to others are two different things, but those who have learned the game under Black say that he is one grand little "show-off."

SCHOLASTIC PUTTERS by NICK

Manager Sharpe of the "Techs" and Coach Jimmie Thornburn will have a hard time picking the four outsiders to represent the first team this year. Three veterans of last year's winning aggregation together with two crack newcomers and two second team men are after places. Of the newcomers, Bobby Smale and "Snowy" Tortenson have excellent chances. Smale is a right-handed left fielder for the Berkeley High crack team last year, and batted over .400. He usually averaged something like three hits per day, and calls hitting chased many a Berkeley runner around the bases.

Headliners Keep Merritt Busy; Pugs Worse Than Prima Donnas

Ambitious Young Boxers Wax Jealous

(BY THE TIMEKEEPER) "Fighting Joe" Merritt, 133 pounds of youthful ambition, aggressiveness and cool nerve, is confident that next Wednesday evening will see a new ruler amongst the pugilists. For he anticipates little difficulty in ousting the well-known pugilist from the title of champion of the world. The two are matched as the final event of the Wheelmen's show, there being nine other bouts preceding the fight of resistance. Merritt is so very confident of his ability to trim the challenger that he is already training up a challenge to Pete Tavas, the West Oakland Napoleon.

Merritt is a comparatively easy job until the real headliners began to quarrel. "When," confessed Merritt, "talk about your prima donnas, I'll bet Oscar Humphreys never had any more success than I have in trying to handle these boxing stars. If I hit one fellow as 'the inside of the club' and put his name on a placard in alligator green ink, I have to call the other fellow the 'sensational of the night' and print his name in the program. I have to knock off before midnight. Never saw anything like it before, a 'ship me'."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Good news for amateur baseball friends Superintendent of Playgrounds Director George E. Dicke, was seen in earnest consultation with Supervisor Scott, at Bay View early Saturday morning. After Saturday's rain, these grounds were in the condition that local amateur talent have complained about during this winter. It has been a less disappointing to the supporters of clean amateur baseball to journey away down to Eighteenth and Wood streets to see their favorite team in action, and then to learn "No Game" owing to condition of grounds. We take it this short coming has at last reached the right person, and we are soon to be favored with the sports of the usual Sunday bash games at dear old Bay View. While we are on the subject, a little hot water for the showers will bring a world of praise from the players.

BOYCOTT ON JAPANESE SPREADS

Oakland Chinese Merchants to Join Statewide Movement.

Oakland Chinese merchants will affiliate themselves with their countrymen of all other Pacific coast cities in an organized and general boycott against everything Japanese. This move is to be in retaliation for the foreign policy of the Japanese, as announced last week, in which the Chinese republic is virtually placed in a subordinate position.

Plans for the boycott have not yet been formulated by the local Chinese merchants. It was announced today, however, that the Oakland Chinese colony will "program" with the Chinese Six Companies, which met in San Francisco last night and discussed the situation.

"We do not know, as yet, just what we will do," Wang Sang, a merchant of 925 Washington street, said today. "It is assumed, however, that every Chinese merchant in Oakland, from the highest to the lowest, will accept and follow the plans formed by the Chinese Six Companies. As I understand it, this includes the cancellation of all merchandise and importation orders from Japan which have not yet been shipped to this country. In addition to this the Chinese will stand together and refuse to have any dealing whatsoever with the Japanese."

Leong Chee, a merchant of 1009 Washington street, said:

"There has at all times existed more or less of a boycott against the Japanese because of their general policy and attitude toward the Chinese. This, however, has never taken the form of an organized movement, as it now will."

WORLD-WIDE MOVE.

By Associated Press.
STOCKTON, March 1.—Local Chinese and Japanese residents here have not yet displayed any signs of estrangement by reason of the boycott order issued and of which local Chinese have received notice.

Leading Chinese merchants, however, say the trade war will not be waged locally alone, but everywhere throughout the world where Chinese and Japanese dwell. They explain that the Chinese government has called upon its people to boycott the Japanese in all things in retaliation for the demands made upon China by the Tokyo government.

No more orders are to be placed in Japan for any goods under any circumstances, according to local merchants, and those who disobey the boycott order will be disciplined through fines or other measures.

SEATTLE IN DOUBT.

By Associated Press.
SEATTLE, March 1.—The question of whether Seattle Chinese shall join the boycott against Japanese goods, declared by the Chinese Six Companies in San Francisco, is still unsettled, but it is expected that a Chinese mass meeting to consider the question will be held. Many leading Chinese merchants are opposing the boycott, but others are said to be working up sentiment in favor of it.

The question was informally discussed at the annual Chinese New Year's banquet last night. Ne Hock Tin, a prominent Chinese merchant, said after the banquet a decision probably would be reached at a mass meeting today.

Ne Hock Tin is reported to be an ardent advocate of the boycott, and Ah King, Woon Gan, Chin Keay and Ye Bon, equally prominent in the Oriental quarter, said they did not believe the boycott would become effective here.

Prominent members of the local Japanese colony take the discussion of a boycott very lightly.

H. C. Hashiguchi, who conducts a large hotel in Chinatown owned by Geon Dip, the Chinese consul, referred to the boycott as "boys' play."

"Geon Dip told me there is nothing to it," said Mr. Hashiguchi. Geon Dip is in Portland.

S. Takahashi, the Japanese consul, said he did not believe Seattle would be affected.

LOS ANGELES OPPOSES.

By Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Chinese here have refused to co-operate as a body with their countrymen in other cities in the boycott on the Japanese instituted by the Six Companies at San Francisco.

A delegation from the Six Companies discussed the matter with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce here last week. The Chamber of Commerce declared that the Chinese here would not join the boycott.

SACRAMENTO ACTS.

By Associated Press.
SACRAMENTO, March 1.—The boycott of Japanese goods by the Chinese merchants had been expected for some time, and it went into effect yesterday, but without demonstration. Chan Ho, leading Chinese merchant, declared the local Chinese would follow scrupulously the dict of the Six Companies.

PORTLAND CHINESE JOIN.

By Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., March 1.—Chinese residents of Portland have joined the boycott of Japanese goods, which was started under the auspices of the Six Companies in San Francisco and is intended to embrace all of the cities of the Pacific

BRIDE IN HASTE ASKS TARDY DIVORCE REPLETING AT LEISURE TIRES TWO YEARS SHE WAITS HIS RETURN

MRS. KATHLEEN MORGAN, Who Declares That Whirlwind Romances Are the "Greatest Of All Gambles."

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Whirlwind marriages are the "worst gamble of all."

This is the conclusion of Mrs. Kathleen Morgan, pretty Los Angeles matron, who has filed suit against her husband, Alfred Morgan, asking a divorce, following a whirlwind courtship and a speedy romance that did not last. Mrs. Morgan says that her husband's affection did not hold; that Cupid stayed in the household two weeks and left simultaneously with her spouse, and that she is "tired of waiting."

It was two years and two months ago that Mrs. Morgan and her husband figured in the romance that lasted only a few weeks. She alleges desertion in her complaint.

"I want to warn all girls against hasty marriages and speedy courtships," declares she. "I knew my husband only a few months before I married and his affections simply wouldn't stay riveted. I waited two years for him to come back and he hasn't come. I am tired of waiting."

The suit will be heard in the Superior Court soon.

would not join the boycott. They promised, however, that they would not oppose the movement.

Hoch Chow, president of the local chamber, said that individuals would be free to follow their own desires in the matter, but that his organization was opposed to any concerted action or to sanctioning the boycott in any way.

NOT HEARD OF.

By Associated Press.
TACOMA, Wash., March 1.—Tacoma's thirty-five or forty Chinese say they have received no requests to join in the general boycott of Japanese goods on the Pacific coast. Leaders of the local colony said last night they have never traded extensively with the Japanese.

FRESNO BOYCOTT EFFECTIVE.

By Associated Press.
FRESNO, March 1.—By tonight over 150 Chinese had given up their rooms in the Japanese quarters of this city and leaders claim that no meals were eaten yesterday at Japanese restaurants by Chinese. It is the expectation that today definite orders will be received from San Francisco authorizing a Chinese checking system by which it will be known if any Chinese patronize Japanese stores.

Both local Chinese and Japanese regret the occurrence of the boycott, as there has been no difficulty between the races here. Instructions from the Chinese Six Companies in San Francisco, however, which were expected early this morning, will be carried out.

Leading Chinese here say that the orders for the boycott came to the Six Companies' headquarters at San Francisco some time ago from Hong Kong. In this city are adjoining quarters in which Chinese and Japanese are considerably intermingled on several streets. Leaving Japanese declared last night that the boycott will inevitably result in a counter-boycott, declaring that the Japanese spend much money with Chinese businesses.

coast where there are Chinese residing.

At a meeting held at the headquarters of the Consolidated Chinese Generalist Societies, for the purpose of considering the boycott in its relation to local action, a plan of action was outlined.

Prominent Chinese merchants of the city last night confirmed the announcement that the boycott was to be instituted here, but declined to make public details of the general plan that is to be pursued.

BOYCOTT BEGUN IN VANCOUVER.

By Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, B. C., March 1.—That a boycott of Japanese goods had been instituted by the local Chinese was the statement made last night at the Japanese consulate. This particularly applies to fish and fancy goods. The wealthiest Chinese have formed themselves into a company, in which they have appointed a president and other officials, the object being to run stores in the lines of goods that the Japanese are now trading in. The Chinese consul declares that any order has been received from China to carry on the boycott, but representative Japanese here say they are quite aware of the formation of the company.

FOWLER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF AGED MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Vernon Fowler, accused of the murder of William Fassett on November 5, was placed on trial in the Superior Court today. The jury was obtained last week and the taking of evidence began this morning.

Fassett, who for years resided with the family of George F. Neal, at 187 Oak street, was slain by one of a gang of follow ship burglars. The housebreakers entered while the family was at the theater and on their return all were forced to stand with their hands in the air at the behest of the gang. Fassett, hearing a woman from Mrs. Neal, the mother of George Neal, darted forward and was shot down in his tracks.

COLONIAL LIFE RENEWED.

Old-fashioned games and scenes will be the order of events at the Park Boulevard playgrounds next Saturday when the Acorn Campfire girls will hold a colonial party. The affair will take place in the morning and the girls will attend in colonial costume.

Communities, like individuals, have reputations. $1,000,000 worth of prevention is better than $100,000,000 worth of cure when we are suffering from the effects of defeating the Extension bonds.

One and one-half cents per month on each $100 assessed valuation will save our reputation.

BANDITS ROB STREET CAR

Armed Men Obtain $27 After Threatening to Shoot Crew.

H. W. Greough, a conductor for the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, was held up by two bandits at Twenty-seventh avenue and East Fourteenth street, on the last run of his car shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. Twenty-seven dollars was taken from him.

The two men had planned out the robbery with great care and succeeded in holding up the car crew and getting away with the money. One of the men boarded the car on the outrun. He asked Greough if it was the last run and was informed that such was the case. He walked to the forward end of the car, where he stood conversing with the motorman. A block or so further on another man hailed the car, who was the accomplice of the first. This one got on the rear platform and after they had gone about two blocks he suddenly drew a revolver and leveled it at Greough at the same time telling him to put out his light. Greough obeyed.

ACCOMPLICE ACTS.

This was the signal for the man on the forward end of the car to cover the motorman with his weapon and to open the gate, preparatory to making his escape.

The robber took $27 from Greough and instructed the crew to the crew to the car to slow down to permit the robbers to escape and then to go forward again at a good speed.

"Throw your controller to the full," the robber told the motorman of the car, "or we will take a few shots at you." The orders were obeyed and the two men made their escape. Greough reported the holdup to Patrolman Tutt and a search was made of the Melrose district and the police throughout the city were told to look out for the two men.

Congress Ready for Final Adjournment

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congress entered today on the closing week of the session in a rush to wind up all business before final adjournment on Thursday. A large amount of work confronts the senate, but in the house business is pretty well cleaned up.

Both houses began consideration of conference reports on the big appropriation bills.

Awaiting the action of the senate also were the Indian and Rivers and Harbors Appropriation bills, and President Wilson's nominees for the Federal Trade Commission. The house devoted itself to consideration of the conference report on the ship purchase bill, with a view of sending it to the senate before the close of the day's session.

M. S. Dollar Must Close British Registry

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—At the Department of Commerce today it was said that the steamer M. S. Dollar, whose suspension from American registry has been announced, never had technically closed her British registry, which is required by British law, and that she was therefore actually still a British ship. Officials said that as soon as that formally had been complied with her American registry would be effective.

PROMINENT NEW YORKERS PLEASED WITH OAKLAND

"Seeing America First!" is the slogan of Herbert Turrell, wealthy New York City business man, and Jim Turrell, a member of one of the oldest families of the United States, whose ancestors were passengers on the Mayflower, who are stopping at the Hotel Oakland. They will remain here for a month.

"We were going to tour Europe, but decided that we wanted to see the Panama-Pacific Exposition. San Francisco, Oakland, and other parts of California," Mrs. Turrell said this afternoon. "So here we are. Although we have just arrived in Oakland, we have seen enough already to convince us that Europe has no greater charms than these."

The Turrells arrived yesterday, having come from New York City through the Panama canal on the steamer Great Northern. Mrs. Turrell is here as a representative of the national organization of the Robinson Genealogical Research Society. She is here officially in this connection. Mrs. Turrell has for eight years been founder regent of the Orange Mountain Chapter of New Jersey Daughters of the G. A. P. She is also historian of the Society of Mayflower Descendants and a prominent and active member of the Colonial Dames.

Turrell is secretary of a large Eastern wholesale drug concern. He is arriving in this part of the state in connection with the state fair. Turrells disembarked at San Diego. In their own automobile, which they have brought with them from New York, they motored to Los Angeles, where they spent two weeks in touring the surrounding country.

Will Get Gasoline From California Oil

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 1.—Dr. Walter E. Rittman, whose discovery of a new process for deriving gasoline, benzol and toluol from petroleum was announced by Secretary of the Interior Lane in Washington last night, lives in this city. In speaking of the discovery, Dr. Rittman said:

"I do not claim to have cheapened the process of producing benzol or toluol, nor for that matter do I claim to have lessened the cost of deriving gasoline from petroleum. My process makes it possible, though, to extract benzol, toluol and gasoline from the California oils—and in this way the cost is lessened."

Dr. Rittman is a 32 years old and got his Ph.D. from Columbia last year.

GRAND PRIX RE-CHECK DISCLOSES ERROR MADE

Re-checking of the drivers in Saturday's Grand Prix race at the Long Beach track, which was probably correct, a cord to Dr. W. H. Irwin, who is attending her. She was removed yesterday from the Emergency hospital to her home at 124 Sixth street.

Men who pay on a $500,000 assessment are in favor of the Extension bonds. Men who pay on $500 are against them. Can you figure it out? If you do it will cost you an average of $80 a year—the other an average of 9 cents.

In either case would you sell the good name of the county at the price

DR. KIBBE ADDED TO INFIRMARY STAFF

Supervisors Appoint Woman Assistant Surgeon at County Institution

Dr. Minora E. Kibbe, recent candidate for county supervisor against Charles E. Heyer, was this morning named as assistant surgeon at the county infirmary by the board of supervisors, to take effect at once, at a salary of $100 per month. The appointment was made on the recommendation of Heyer, who declared that a woman was more capable than a man to care for women's cases at the county hospital. Supervisor Foss opposed the appointment.

"Other consulting physicians tender their services free," he declared, "and what I am for a woman physician, I object to the salary under the circumstances."

The appointment was ratified over his dissenting vote.

Using immediate work on repairs of drains leading to Oakland, the Oakland-Berkeley Hotel and Apartment Association asked that the State Highway Commission be requested to aid.

"Automobile traffic to Oakland is the up and down Jordan of the association. The hotels are losing out. Oakland is in a state of siege as far as auto travel is concerned. It is a vital question."

The matter was referred to the State Highway Commission.

The device consists of a red line marked on the roll and a movable pointer on the instrument. The marking was made by a master musician as the composition should be played. Simply follow the red line with the Metro-style pointer and, measure by measure, the selection is played with the correct tempo and the proper interpretation.

SENATE RESUMES SHIP BILL PROBE

P. A. S. Franklin Testifies His Company Spent Nothing in Anti-Propaganda.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the International Mercantile Marine, told the Senate ship bill investigating committee today that his company had not spent a cent in propaganda work against the bill, but that he had received letters from Senators Bankhead, Burton and Lodge asking for information on the subject, which he gave.

"Senator Bankhead wrote to me," said Franklin, "stating that he would like to confer with me about the bill. I came to Washington last December and talked to him. I told him that, in my opinion, there was nothing in the United States could do to deal intelligently with the shipping emergency that existed. Senators Burton and Lodge merely asked me about certain rates and foreign ships held in American ports, which I supplied."

Mr. Franklin told of his suggestion for government aid to a private shipping company made to Secretary McAdoo and also discussed with Secretary Garrison and some Democratic Senators in August. The plan he outlined, he said, proposed that the government guarantee bonds for a company which would buy or build thirty or forty steamers.

It contemplated retirement of the bonds in twenty-two years and the government would have the right to take over the ships in time of war. At the suggestion of Secretary Garrison, he said, he talked with half a dozen Democratic Senators in Senator Martin's room, but "nothing ever came of it."

Mr. Franklin agreed to furnish copies of correspondence with members of Congress on the shipping situation. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

NEW HEARING ORDERED IN DEPORTATION CASE

By Associated Press.
BOSTON, March 1.—A new hearing for Chin Loy Yon, ordered deported from San Francisco under the Chinese exclusion act, is ordered under an opinion by Judge James M. Morton of the Federal Court, made public last night.

Government inspectors, convinced that they had uncovered a plot to bring Chinese boys illegally into this country through San Francisco, "apparently got the case against Chin Loy Yon, Judge Morton wrote.

"While they did not act in bad faith," he continued, "they took oral testimony against him behind his back, and if not acting secretly, at least did so without notice to him or his counsel."

The opinion admits that officials have considerable latitude in such cases.

After the speech of the minister, the Socialists obtained a political test vote and were defeated 214 to 44.

CLAIMS RANCHER WED BY PROXY

Paternity of Babe of Romance
Born in Holland Imputed to K. M. Macdonald.

Among the dikes and meadows of spilt and span Holland, in that distant land, surrounded by the world's greatest canal, has been born a babe of romance in the midst of wealth and culture and according to the great newspaper of Amsterdam, Nieuwschied, Macdonald, of Watsonville, California, is the father of a child born in Holland. Macdonald, one of the board of commissioners for the Netherlands to the Exposition in the father.

Macdonald, a wealthy apple grower and rancher, is at present living upon his ranch with his aged mother. His brother, Ferdinand, who lives at 1562 Union street, San Francisco, is in Amsterdam, the home of Brechtia, Adama van Schellema, daughter of a rich Holland merchant and wife of Little Bert Macdonald, born on February 2.

The following notice, which appeared in the Nieuwschied newspaper on that date, has reached friends in San Francisco.

Born:
Brechtia Wilkes Macdonald,
Daughter of
Brechtia Adama van Schellema
(Nijmegen)
Wife of Koenraad Wilkes Macdonald
(Watsonville, California)
Nijmegen, Feb. 2, 1915—7:12:10.

Macdonald, at his home in Watsonville last night denied the marriage but admitted that he had been engaged to the young woman while she was visiting in California in 1912. The couple met in the country home of Counsel General M. A. Van Coten Torchianna at Santa Cruz and Macdonald's mother invited her to stay for a time in her home at Watsonville before she continued her tour of the world. Brechtia Adama van Schellema is a member of one of Holland's most prominent families, a sister of Holland's consul general in San Francisco.

Consul Torchianna explains that following a quarrel between the young couple the girl left for her home in Amsterdam but that later they were married by proxy.

The papers are in the "case" he said. "They were sent to Holland and duly signed. The ceremony was performed and Macdonald is the husband of Brechtia van Schellema."

For the Van Kaathoven, 321 Cliff street, Seabright, near Santa Cruz, to whose home Miss Schellema fled after she left Watsonville and following the quarrel between her and Macdonald, explained that she did not know a child had been born to the girl and that she had never told her of any trouble; that she had received but two letters from her since she left.

While visiting the Macdonald home Miss Schellema and young Macdonald became close friends. They were engaged to be married and the ceremony was to have taken place July 17, 1914. The invitations were sent out. Then suddenly the wedding bells did not ring and the bride-elect departed. Some said that Macdonald became angry because the heiress had refused to invest $50,000 in a land project in which he was interested.

Another said the wedding was called off because Miss Schellema fled to the home of Mrs. Van Kaathoven at Seabright.

SOCIETY LEADERS AVERT ROBBERIES

Highwaymen Attempt to Hold Up Burlingame Women's Automobiles.

Hiding in a deserted spot behind the cemeteries, on the new cut-off road from Burlingame to San Francisco, and twice attempting to hold up automobiles, only to be frustrated by chauffeurs for Mrs. Henry T. Scott, wife of the head of the Telephone Company, and Mrs. Paul P. Schwerin, wife of the steamship magnate, two bandits are now being sought on both sides of the bay after flight from their stand on the roadway. The two automobiles which they attempted to rob spread the alarm, but they, foreseeing this, fled.

Whether they are members of the gang recently making its headquarters in an old hunting cabin is not known, but it is believed that they fled to the bay and escaped in a launch. Wherefore the police of Oakland are watching all small craft in an effort to locate the bandit pair, descriptions of whom have been obtained.

Both attempts at robbery were made Saturday night on a dark spot in the new road. The first was when the machine containing Mrs. Remi Schwerin passed. The men leaped into the roadway, holding up their hands. Mrs. Schwerin, not liking their appearance, ordered her chauffeur to drive on at increased speed, which he did, forcing the men to jump to the sides of the road for safety. The same course was adopted a few moments later by Mrs. Scott's chauffeur.

The new roadway between Burlingame and San Francisco, is used almost entirely by wealthy Burlingame residents and, according to the police, this fact was evidently known to the thugs.

SEEKS BURGLAR; FIRES AT POLICE

Patrolman Keel Narrowly Escapes
Bullets Shot Through Door Panel.

Patrolman J. H. Keel narrowly escaped being shot when he was mistaken for a burglar last night by H. B. McDowell, 1529 Webster street. A burglar call had been sent in, and the police rushed to the scene. Chauffeur Ed Hughes remained at the front door of the house while Patrolman Seyden remained as a lookout at the side. Keel went to the back door and knocked.

"I am a policeman. Is there a burglar here?" he shouted. McDowell had been making a search of the house, having been alarmed during the night by the sound of someone attempting to break in. In answer to Keel's demand McDowell fired two shots through the panel of the rear door. The shots passed by Keel's head within a few inches.

Keel fired one shot and started to McDowell to cease firing or he would open up on him. McDowell opened the door and explanations followed.

The report of Keel to Chief of Police Petersen ends with the following statement: "I was unable to locate the burglar."
